ENTERTAINMENTS.

Hyperion.

Mr. Nat. C. Goodwin and his excellent company of players presented last evening his fine success of last season, a drama of character, entitled, "In Mizgouri," to a highly appreciative audience. Especially successful were Mr. Goodwin as "Jim Radburn," William Ingersoll as "Robert Travers," Clarence E. Holt as "Joe Vernon," Louis Payne as "Dave," Miss Blanche Walsh as "Kate Vernon," and Miss Minnie Dupree as "Elizabeth Vernon." The latter greatly pleased the audience with her funny sayings. Mr. Goodwin was several times called before the curtain.

John L. Stoddard has now reached the final lecture of his course at the Hyperion. To-night he will describe "The Passion Play of Ober Ammergau," perhaps the most interesting of all his lectures, which has already been heard by 150,000 people. A crowded house will be present.

"In Old Kentucky" will be presented to-morrow evening. The play is a true and stirring picture of Kentucky life, beginning in the mountains and shifting to the blue-grass country. The characters are of the simple and homely styles, which can be found in abundance in Kentucky. Of their kind they are genuine transcripts of nature, admirable genre pictures from life. They exhibit an originality of conception and power of execution rarely met with in the field of dramatic literature. The story is described as intensely dramatic from the beginning to the end. Sale of seats now open.

"The Rainmakers," which is to be presented on Friday night, is a big laughing success. There is not much rhyme or reason about Frank Dumont's force, but it is genuinely funny for all that, and the two stars, Donnelly and Girard, are natural born humorists. The piece goes with a shout, and the scene in which the two fellows bring on deluge and cyclone is simply irresistible. Some novel electric light effects are also introduced, and the company is well suited to the requirements of the piece. Sale of seats opens to-morrow.

Joseph Haworth will present "Hamlet" Saturday evening.

Grand Opera House.

Despite the wintry weather a good-sized audience witnessed the opening performance of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Byron in "Ups and Downs of Life" at the Grand opera house last evening. The play opens with Noel Norman as the disowned son and brother to Constance. Jeffrey Crawford, a wealthy contractor, learns of the brother who has been in prison and also has stolen a sum of money, and promises to keep his story a secret from the world if Constance will become his wife. She consents to do for his sake, when Vivian Ransome, a friend and lover of Constance, learns that she is going to marry the man she does not love. He demands an explanation and learns the true state of affairs, and Constance consents to become his wife, which she does. Crawford endeavors by various means to shake Ransome's faith in his wife and is the means of showing him a secret meeting between his wife and her refugee brother. Crawford tells him that the man is her lover and he is led to believe this for a short time. Finally he learns the truth and shows Crawford in his true light, and finds his wife after a series of incidents.

Kate Byron as Jane Jukins, a servant to Ransome, pretends to be a rich lady of refinement and marries a supposed lord, who turns out to be a grocery clerk. Oliver Byron as Vivian Ransome is up to his usual mark, as is also his wife Kate. The part of Jeffrey Crawford is ably taken care of by Spottiswood Altken, and A. Smith as the supposed lord, but really a clerk, brings forth rounds of laughter in his part. The play will be given again this evening and to-morrow afternoon and evening, and is one of much dramatic interest and will no doubt draw good sized houses.

The transformation scene in Charles H. Yale's "Newest Devil's Auction" is of a most original character, and is a unique work of art. It is entitled "The Advent of Spring." There is first disclosed the month of March. The sign of Zodiac of this month, old Boreas, is sending for the cold, north wind and ice and snow, but as a harbinger of spring, the robin red breast appears. "The Devil's Auction" comes the last three nights, with Saturday matinee.

Our entire collection of objects of natural history has been placed in the lecture hall annex of the Grand Opera house for exhibition this week by Professor Schurr, who will give his interesting explanation of the chief features. The hall is open free to the patrons of the house.

Poll's Wonderland Theater. There is another lively week in store for all who like vaudeville entertainment. The famous Manhattan Comedy Four, one of the most effective quartets of amusement makers before the public, head the bill, and they keep the fun going. George K. Fortescue and Richard Gorman more than make up for any strokes that the others miss. Mr. Fortescue's fleshy avoirdupois (he weighs 400 pounds) dressed up in skirts and corsets has been seen here often in "Evangeline," and it is perhaps enough to say that it is just as attractive as ever. The Martell family of bicycle riders, Havens and Andrews, Miss Nellie Bland, Frank Burt and Shayne and Vorden contribute their share to the funmaking, which is of a character that has not yet been surpassed in attractive intensity at the Wonderland.

Mission Work.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Church Missionary association will be held to-day, February 5, at 3 p. m., in Trinity parish building, Temple street.

The annual meeting of the State Pharmaceutical association will be held this evening and to-morrow in Norwich.

Paskola

A Flesh Forming Food, (Artificially Digested.)

To pale, thin, and emaciated people: This food will make you fat, robust, and strong. People who take it gain five and even ten pounds in a month. It stops the WASTING in consumptive cases and causes them to become fleshy. PASKOLA is far better than Cod Liver Oil in this respect, without its repulsive taste. You can buy it at any drug store. Send your name to The Pre-Digested Food Co., 30 Reade st., New York, and get their interesting pamphlet.
